

"ALL GOOD THINGS DO NOT (necessarily) COME FROM ABOVE!" (some come from England and the Chrysler Corp.)

Like, for instance - the world's finest sports touring sedan.....

Steeped in British workmanship and quiet tradition America has heard little of the Jensen company, but sees a great deal of its workmanship in some of England's top production cars, daily.

Displayed for the first time in the United States at the New York Automobile Show, an automotive engineer has called the new Jensen, "Britain's answer to the Mercedes 300S".

A beautiful combination of English craftsmanship and American technology, the Jensen Golden Tornado is powered by Chrysler's finest 350 G.C. V-8. With a further happy mixing of electrical components, Dunlop servo-dis brakes, balanced rack and pinion steering, Chrysler's new torque-flite hi performance converter with over-riding controls, or their 4-speed sports stick shift, this Anglo-American mating leaves little to be desired in a truly first-rate sports saloon.....

Embodying a standard wide-track front suspension with driver controlled Armstrong shocks, the Jensen Golden Tornado is capable of 150 miles per hour. Cruising at 130 the silence is broken only by the melodius strains from its twin speaker console.
